

DELIGHTFUL

Concert Given By National
Chautauqua Band

At The Hiawatha Assembly
Wednesday Night

Dr. Lincoln Hulley Is Expected Saturday

And Will Appear On The Program Sunday

Senator Brown Lectures
Saturday Afternoon

Those who heard the National Chautauqua band at Hiawatha lake assembly Wednesday afternoon and again today were delighted with the program, and all are anticipating another great treat when the band appears this evening for its closing entertainment. The band is not one of the large kind so far as numbers go, but it is made up of the best professionals in the country and its programs are very fine. The general sentiment among the assembly people is that the band is superior to the orchestra that appeared Tuesday—"and that is going some."

The rain early Wednesday evening caused some persons to remain away from the park and really caused these to miss a most delightful evening. Belharz gave "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," and his entertainment was the equal of the best that has ever been given at the assembly.

Assembly Notes

The register is growing nicely each day.

There were a number of new arrivals Wednesday, among them Mrs. H. Thane Miller of Cincinnati, Mrs. (Judge) McCann of Dayton, Mrs. Fred P. Brewer of Dayton, Mrs. M. T. Street and daughter of Granville, and Mrs. Levi T. Scofield of Cleveland.

Dr. Lincoln Hulley will arrive at the park Saturday and will make his first public appearance for the season on Sunday afternoon, when he will give his sermon-lecture on "The Teachings of Jesus." It is anticipated that the church people of Mt. Vernon and Knox county will visit the assembly by hundreds to hear Dr. Hulley, as he is widely known and as it is certain that his message will be one of great value.

While it was not so intended, when the program was prepared, it is certain that Sunday night's recital on "The Book of Job" by Prof. John Duxbury will be one of the best drawing features of the entire assembly. Duxbury is president of the School of Elocution at Manchester, England, and director of studies in elocution at Victorian university in the same city. Although dramatic readings are well-known and very popular, the impersonation of Biblical stories is a new departure and fraught with difficulties that would appall the average reader. In his impersonations Mr. Duxbury invests with a distinctive personality the Lord, the Adversary, Job, Job's wife, Eliphaz the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite, Tophar the Naamathite and Elihu. Most human of all these are these friends of Job, coming with their very human advice and counsel and willing to tell him of his misdeeds and to assure him that he must have been very wicked to bring down such afflictions upon himself.

It is rather odd that an assembly should find itself "up against it" on account of politics, but Supt. Rose is informed that Senator Dulliver cannot be here for an afternoon address. The Iowa state Republican convention occurs Aug. 3, and the senator cannot be here before the evening of August 4.

Senator Norris Brown will be here Saturday afternoon, July 30, at two o'clock.

BACTERIA

Not long since it was announced that Regnault had discovered bacteria in coal. Continuing his researches, he found evidence that bacteria were probably coeval with the first appearance of organic life on the earth. They attacked vegetable tissues, as well as the bones and teeth of animals, but as a rule they belonged to species distinct from the bacteria of today.—Philadelphia Record.

UNCLE'S

Plea For Wayward Nephew
Was Not Granted

(Mansfield News)

Sheriff Gus Baer took Desmond McKown, the 15-year-old East Mansfield boy to the Lancaster reform farm Wednesday morning. Mrs. Baer accompanied the sheriff as she had never seen the institution. On Tuesday an uncle of the McKown boy who lives near Mt. Vernon, came here and called on Judge Cummins, of the juvenile court and tried to get him to reverse his decision and suspend the sentence. The uncle stated he would like to get the boy to work on his farm, but the court couldn't see it that way and told the uncle that it would be better for the boy to go to Lancaster and get straightened out.

RABBITS ARE PLENTIFUL

Farmers who have cut their wheat and those who are now cutting their hay declare that they never saw as many rabbits as there are this year. They say there have been no heavy rains to drown the little ones in April and May and that as a result the country is being almost overrun with them. So many farmers do not allow hunting on their places and this leaves plenty of game to stock the surrounding farms. Quail, too, are said to be plentiful this summer, and everything points to a great hunting season next fall.

My reason of these wrongful acts the plaintiff claims to be damaged in the sum of $300 for which amount a judgment is asked. ## SEVERE Injuries Sustained By Mr. T.

F. Cole

At His Home West Of City,
Wednesday

Mr. T. F. Cole, a farmer residing about one mile and a half west of the city on the Green Valley road, was the victim of a very peculiar and unfortunate accident while at work on his farm on Wednesday afternoon. At about three o'clock, Mr. Cole stopped work for a few minutes and went to a pump near the house where he took a drink of water and was feeling very well. About one-half hour later, he was driving a hay rake and was sitting on the elevated seat when for some reason, he fell heavily to the ground, apparently without any cause. Striking on his left eye, he was rendered unconscious for several minutes, during which time, he was removed to the house. Dr. S. E. Dealey was called in attendance and the injured man was sufficiently revived to enable him to carry on a conversation. He stated that while riding on the hay rake he was suddenly attacked by dizziness and was unable to keep his balance and that he did not know exactly what was happening. His right eye was severely bruised as a result of the accident on Wednesday evening. His sons, Dr. W. U. Cole and Dr. M. F. Cole, both of Columbus, were called to render assistance. The injured man was greatly improved on Thursday morning, but as he is seventy years of age, the result of the injuries and the shock may yet prove serious.

(Mansfield News)

The sixteenth annual convention of the state council of Daughters of Liberty is now in session in Mansfield, having opened with a reception for state officers, delegates and their friends, which was held Monday evening at the council hall in the Keith block on North Main street.

A SOUTHERN METROPOLIS

Only Rome, among all the Latin cities of the world, outranks Buenos Aires in size. In progressiveness one might look over every urban community of the earth and find no city to surpass it. It is the boast of the Porteno, or native of Buenos Aires, that there is nothing that can be obtained in any other city in the world that cannot also be had in the city of Buenos Aires.

Years ago a youth in Buenos Aires decided to found a small paper. He had but little money, but he printed his first edition on a job press. As the year went by Jose Paz prospered. His paper, La Prensa, founded in the interest of the people, grew from a job press sheet into a vast journalistic enterprise that made a multi-millionaire out of its founder. In an announcement, he stated that the people of Argentina had made millions for him and that he intended to return the compliment by building a house for the service of the rich and poor alike, that should surpass anything of its kind in the world. The magnificent building of La Prensa was the result. It is an institution of which any nation might well be proud. In one part of the building there is a complete law library presided over by trained attorneys, to whom any one who has no money to pay may apply for free legal advice. There is a big conference hall for the free use of all labor organizations and societies of the poor and middle classes. A grand concert hall is also provided, where musicales and all kinds of benefits may be given.

One may gather that Buenos Aires is progressive when it is stated that nearly $50,000,000 has been spent on harbor improvements alone. Its avenues and parks are among the most beautiful, expensive and well kept in the world. As a social center no other South American city equals the Argentine capital. The rich ranch owners of the Plains, whose fortunes run into the millions, came here and build magnificent residences that are comparable to the best that are to be found in New York, Washington, London and Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stoye and Mrs. Charles Roberts were Columbus visitors this afternoon.

NARROW

The child was left alone for a short time, during which he obtained a "Daisy Fly Killer" and pulled one of the wicks from the socket. Child-like, he immediately began to suck the sweet fluid from the wick and as a result, soon became very ill. The child's mother discovered the cause of her son's illness and immediately administered an antidote. Dr. C. K. Conrad was summoned in attendance and the poison was removed from the child's stomach. The condition of the boy was encouraging on Thursday morning and it is thought that the result will not be serious.
